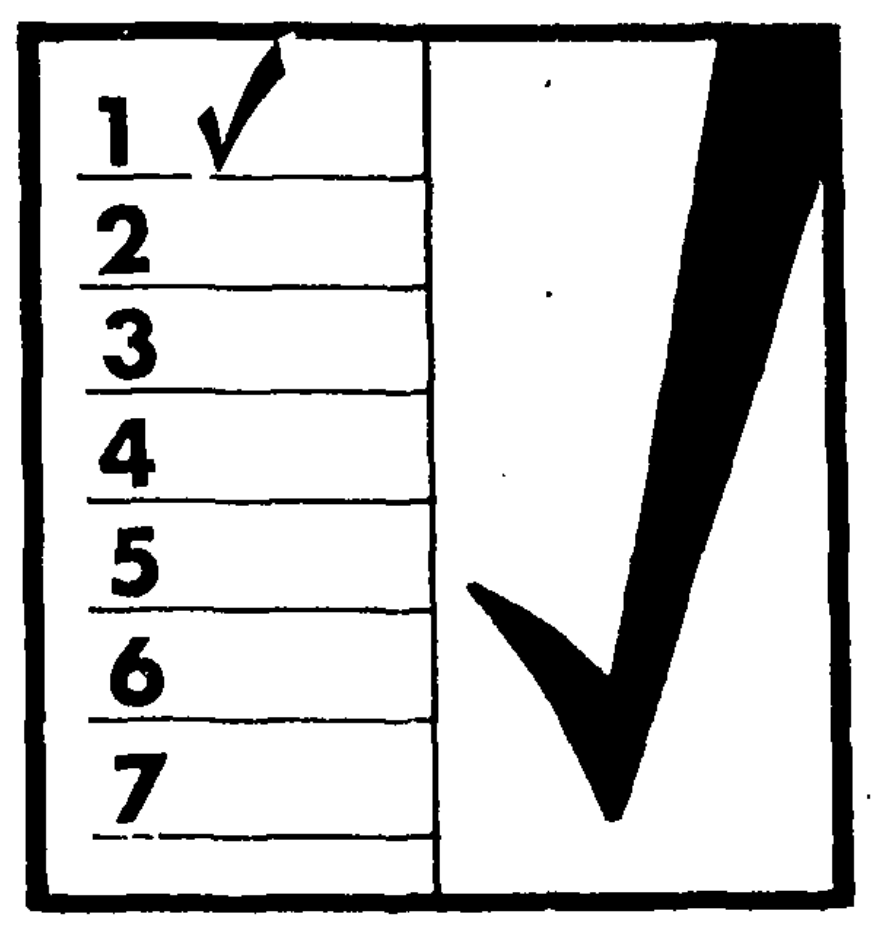
Meeting Corsicana's Needs

Streets Most Obvious Problem in Corsicana To Possible Citizens



PROPOSITION 1

$1,500,000 Street Bonds

Vote Nov. 14

By SAM PENDERGRAST
Editor of The Sun

In the first two parts of this series on seven proposed areas of improvement in Corsicana, needs for better water volume and more efficient sewage treatment were explored.

They are probably the most pressing, immediate and crucial needs for a great majority of citizens who either face occasional lack of water pressure or problems arising from over-loaded sewer lines in their neighborhood. The sewage treatment problem, in fact, must be corrected under order from the State's pure water watchdog agency, the Texas Water Quality Board.

Engineers have indicated that these water and sewer system improvements must be made if the city is able to continue to provide adequate water and sewer service in the future.

But — frustrating and worrisome as the faulty sewage treatment and unpredictable water supply are to local residents — they are probably not the first deficiency or the most negative factor about Corsicana noted by visitors and prospective residents.

That title must be awarded "hands down" to Corsicana's street system, which — aside from the three major highways and the connecting freeway — range from good to bad and indifferent but are mostly bad.

"Bad" is putting it mildly, in fact, to residents of the East Side who have to make a tortuous detour almost to downtown Corsicana and back along the "Chatfield Pike" to get to Woodland Cemetery with a funeral procession originating from one of the East Side churches just a few blocks away from the cemetery "as the crow flies".

Unfortunately, only a crow can make the trip along the more direct route on Bunert St., which is a dirt path, and over a collapsed bridge that, never-the-less, some East Side residents hazard in their cars — probably to the horror of companies that carry their automobile insurance.

Bunert St. will be paved, with curbs and gutters, and the collapsed bridge replaced, giving access on hard surface from Chatfield Pike to East Ninth Ave. and connecting with East Fifth and East Seventh if voters approve the $1,500,000 bond issue for street improvements on the Nov. 14 ballot—along with at least 35 other street projects in every corner of town.

Half a dozen of the proposed paving jobs are "major", opening up or improving important "thoroughfares" which are needed daily by hundreds — and even thousands — of residents to get from their homes to their places of work and back, regardless of the weather. Some of the dirt streets literally keep people from work after a rain or cause irritating delays because of the necessity to detour to paved thoroughfares.

The massive street improvements proposed for funding through the $1.5 million bond issue are intended to do two things, according to Director of Public Works Dick Ballenger:

...First, to "get Corsicanans out of the mud" and give them quicker, better access to a network of good paved streets on which they can always get to work, to shopping areas, to schools, to church, and to every sector of Corsicana; and

...Second, to supplement the paving program of 1967 (which provided an additional eight miles of paved streets in all areas of the city, according to City Manager Jack Russell, but which has been mistakenly considered a boondoggle by citizens aware of only the paving added in their own neighborhoods) and allow a more orderly program of street development by setting up a good basic network of solid streets to which neighborhood streets can be tied through other street improvement programs.

Ballenger is new in his position, as is Russell, and an aggressive civil servant who demands to know exactly what is needed and what are the best means of supplying it. He has been checking out the street system by map and by tape-measure, and he knows more about more street corners and chugholes than most people who have lived here all their lives.

Ballenger says "What we have to let people know is that this five-year paving project we're talking about is only a part of the total street program that includes better upkeep of existing streets and constant improvements in neighborhood systems as City funds and neighborhood cooperation become available.

"The fact is," he notes, "you could close your eyes and stick pins in a city street map and pick a lot of places where improvements are needed. But you've got to have something — a foundation — to add onto. That's what we're trying to solidify with the improvements proposed through the Nov. 14 bond election."

"Good, bad and indifferent" have been the words used to characterize existing streets in Corsicana. Some of those marked for improvement, and the categories in which they must fall for residents, include:

IN THE SOUTHWEST AREA: "Bad" has to be the word for South 29th St., also known as "Oak Valley Road", where the one-lane slab from West 13th Ave. south to Nature Park will be widened to two-lane traffic and paved.

IN THE SOUTH AREA: South 18th St. will be reconstructed with curbing and guttering and paving wherever necessary and overlaid with asphalt in serviceable sections, for a total of five blocks from West 13th Ave. north to West Ninth Ave. The project was the last area marked for improvement under the bond issue and became feasible through elimination of duplication of projected expenses for a three-block area of all-new construction. The five-block area can be improved for the same amount due to the usability of some parts of the present street.

IN THE NORTH: Hardy Ave. — which would have to be called "indifferent" because it is a good basic thoroughfare that is just too narrow for safe traffic — will be widened from North Beaton St. to North Highway 75, giving better access to town for area residents and an alternate route to out-of-town traffic avoiding downtown congestion.

IN THE WEST: West Second Ave., from its intersection at the West Hwy. 22 "Y" to its end at the entrance to the State Home, is another of those "indifferent" routes, with solid but narrow pavement, no shoulders and an enormous load of traffic involving Memorial Hospital, the I.O.O.F. and State Homes, and access to Navarro Junior College and Corsicana High School, in addition to a large number of homes on both sides of Second Ave. and south to the next major artery, West Seventh Ave. West Second is scheduled to be widened and overlaid with asphalt if the street bonds are approved.

This would improve the flow of traffic and eliminate some local drainage problems.

IN THE CENTRAL AREA: Northwood Blvd. has already been improved enough to get it out of the "horrible" state which caused a lot of northern area residents to flounder through the mud after a rain or take long detours to Second Ave. or Beaton St. Northwood is being paved, in part, through a current paving program, and an extension to a connection with Beaton is planned if the bond issue is approved.

IN THE EAST: In addition to the Bunert paving and replacement of the bridge near Woodland Cemetery, there are several key additions and extensions planned, including the widening of East First Ave. and the connecting Chatfield Pike, with curbing and gutters to be added and attention to the narrow bridge — possibly in the form of an additional bridge to allow one-way traffic on each bridge — to provide good access all the way around the connection with the new Bunert St. paving.

BUT THAT STILL LEAVES at least 30 more paving, widening, guttering, and street improvement projects scattered all over town.

In a purely selfish sense, it is those additional neighborhood streets that are most sought after by residents — understandably, since they are the streets most often traversed by those residents.

But a trip over the entire paving project such as this newsman made with Ballenger and Russell in preparation for this report suggests two things above all: that there are virtually countless streets in Corsicana that cry out for development — so many that it is really a wonder many people aren't clamoring perpetually for street bond issues —, and that the 36 areas marked for improvement have been carefully thought out and coordinated in a surprisingly comprehensive approach that seems to get the most out of existing pavement while promising the most from every new paving dollar.

The bond issue program up for voter approval Nov. 14 has been characterized as "something for everybody", and in no area is that more readily apparent than in the street program.

Here, broken down by general areas of the city (although there is bound to be some overlapping, since many of the improvements cover many blocks or even miles) are the other specific streets marked for all-new paving, extensions, or improvements to existing roadbeds:

EAST SIDE:

NORTH HIGHWAY 75 will get a traffic control light at First Ave.

EAST FIFTH AVE. will be widened, curbed and guttered from East Third Ave. south to East Fourth Ave., length from Hwy. 75 east to Post Oak Creek.

NORTH FIFTH ST. will be paved, curbed and guttered from East Third Ave. south to East Fourth Ave., with that one block completing paved access from First Ave. to Fifth Ave.

NORTH PARHAM ST., which is now a winding dirt road, will be paved, guttered, and curbed from East Fifth Ave. to East Hwy 31, providing improved traffic flow from East Fifth Ave to Hwy 31 and giving access to Bunert Park.

PARK ROAD will be curbed, guttered and paved from Parham St. through the East Side Park loop to East Hwy 31.

SOUTH SIDE:

EAST 13th AVE., much of which was paved as a result of the 1967 street bond issue and which now serves as a major traffic artery, will have paving, curbs and gutters extended from Hwy. 75 to South Beaton St.

SOUTH NINTH ST. will be curbed, guttered and asphalted from East 13th St. south to South Hwy. 75.

To provide an important traffic loop through south side congestion in the area of Oil City Iron Works, and as a result of public suggestions by citizens of the area at the "town hall" meeting, South Main will be connected by paving with South Beaton by way of East 16th Ave. in this way:

SOUTH MAIN ST. will be curbed, guttered and asphalted from the present paving for approximately two blocks south to East 16th Ave., and;

EAST 16th AVE. will be curbed, guttered and asphalted from the new South Main St. paving east to the paving on South Beaton St.

SOUTH 25th ST. will be curbed, guttered and asphalted from West 13th Ave. north to the Cotton Belt Railway.

SOUTH 28th ST. will be curbed, guttered and asphalted from West 13th Ave. north to the Cotton Belt Railway.

SOUTH 31st ST. will be curbed, guttered and asphalted from West 13th Ave. north to Park Row.

WEST TENTH AVE. will be paved, curbed and guttered from South 15th St. west to South 20th St.

WEST 13th AVE. will be widened and overlaid with asphalt from South 24th St. west to South 31st St.

CENTRAL AREA:

NORTH BEATON ST. will be widened, curbed, guttered, and overlaid with asphalt from East First Ave. north to the Fort Worth and Denver Railway, and the Beaton St. bridge near Navarro Mall will be widened. (Beaton St. is another significant result of the 1967 street bond issue, with the result that there is less additional construction needed in that area.)

WEST OAKLAWN, which has a one-block gap between present paving and Beaton, will be curbed, guttered and asphalted from North Main St. to Beaton to complete an all-weather thoroughfare.

WEST DON AVE. will be paved, guttered and curbed and tied into Northwood Blvd. at the west and Beaton St. at the east to provide the all-weather access to the Dobbin Rd. area discussed earlier.

NORTH SIDE:

To facilitate cross-town traffic from Beaton St. to North Hwy. 75, the following improvements will be made to Rob, Walton, Oakgrove, Navarro Drive and Boyd:

South 18th St., long a bone of contention with residents whose children must traverse the rough paving to central schools, will get five blocks of improved paving from West 13th Ave. to the Cotton Belt Railroad if the street bonds are approved Nov. 14. City Parade To Kick Off Homecoming

Navarro Junior College will kick off its Annual Football Homecoming with a parade scheduled for 2 p.m. Saturday in downtown Corsicana, according to Wayne Kittley, public relations director.

The parade will begin at Westminster Presbyterian Church, 312 N. 13th St., include South Beaton Street and Main Street and end at Westminster.

Several bands will be playing during the festivities, including the NJC Conquistador Band and Corsicana High School, McGregor, Kerens, Collins Middle School, Drane Middle School and Mexia bands.

The parade sponsored by the Ex-Students Association — will include Patty Barberee and her Texas Twirlers, CHS Blue Gold Brigade and the B&S Drum Corps from Dallas.

Also entered in the parade will be the 18 homecoming queen nominees, various club entry car floats and drill teams.

The NJC Ex-Students Banquet will be at 5 p.m. at the NJC Student Union Building with the Choralaires performing.

At 7:30 p.m. the NJC Bulldogs meet Ranger Junior College at Tiger Field.

A homecoming dance will be held immediately following the game until 12:30 a.m. at the Student Union Building. "Haedge," a local rock group, will provide the music. Tickets for the dance are $1 and $1.50.

At 9:50 a.m. Friday a pep rally will be held in the Men's Gym at NJC.

Hair Issue

Only One Student Out Of School

Only one student remained out of school Wednesday morning after a school code prohibiting long hair went into full effect at Corsicana High School last Wednesday, Mark Culwell, principal, told the Daily Sun this morning.

Sixteen Corsicana High School students were suspended last Wednesday when they failed to conform to hair code standards after a decision made by visiting judge Steve Latham of Hillsboro last Friday in a case styled "Mrs. Leslie K. Skews, as next friend of Kevin Skews, and Mrs. J.T. Burkes, as next friend of Michael Burkes, vs. Board of Trustees of Corsicana Independent School District."

The decision denied a petition to temporarily enjoin school officials from enforcing a hair code for male students at CHS.

The judge also decided that the temporary restraining order which had been in effect since it was granted by 13th District Judge James C. Sewell on Aug. 28 should also be dissolved.

The restraining order had allowed students to keep their long hair pending further orders of the court.

Culwell said, "The student has indicated to us that he will not be coming back." He did not name the student.

"The other 15 students got haircuts and were back in school with their parents the next day," he said.

"There are no problems out here, not even a ripple," he said.

UF Drive Leaders Optimistic After Week's Collection Surge

By BETTY JEAN CLAY
City Editor

In little more than a week's time, the Navarro County United Fund drive took a dramatic turn around, and after pausing to reflect on what temporarily stymied the campaign, leaders hitched up their collective determination Tuesday and went out to keep the momentum going.

Chairman Bob Potts called in division leaders to assess the campaign to date, after becoming alarmed little more than a week ago when the drive edged up during the week only a percentage point to 29 per cent, then enjoyed a surge upwards to the half-way mark by this past weekend.

At the time, Potts had speculated that the "slow down" stemmed from an apparent unaggressive effort on the part of hundreds of workers to go out and make their contacts with prospective donors.

During Tuesday's review held in the United Fund year-round office headquarters, there was cause for some mild rejoicing— an up-to-the-minute tabulation showed $66,969 now in, or 60.8 per cent of the record goal of $110,000.

"This shows us," observed Potts as he flipped page after page of the master file book of contributions against the potential known to be in the offing, "that buckets and buckets of donor cards are still not in. They may be worked, or nearly worked and completed, but they are still not in," he informed the leaders.

And until they are "in," and that means either cash donations or signed pledge cards returned by campaigners to headquarters, they can't be counted and actually more money may have been raised than reflected by the reports that have been finalized.

Reminding division leaders that the drive had been kicked off with Thanksgiving Day the target date for completion, Potts said, "if we keep going we can push this date up a week ahead of Thanksgiving, and let's work toward that."

With the momentum that has been generated in the past week, leaders agreed with him this is no time to slacken the pace, but rather a time for a challenge to push even harder.

Tom Boyd, chairman of General Management division, and James Eliot, chairman of General Employes, quickly scheduled a "report" meeting for their divisions at 7:30 a.m. Nov. 2, vowing to wind up their part of the campaign.

Looking at the book, Potts told Boyd, "You are $846 behind this time last year with $3,515 in to date." The goal for General Management division is $12,000, and Boyd reported that 131 cards had been worked compared to 190 at this time last year; but he believes the division can make its goal by Nov. 2.

Eliot's division with $612.50 in toward a goal of $3,300 is $377 behind last year, but he is optimistic.

Potts revealed that Postal Solicitation with $1,090 in hand is $11 ahead of last year toward a $1,425 goal; gifts from estates are "about where they were last year at this time with $12,500 in toward $21,450 for goal."

The Gold Card division, which includes gifts of $100 and up, "is $50 behind, standing at $14,504 of its goal of $19,800," Potts advised.

One of the biggest divisions, moneywise and for the number of contributors it touches, is the Chapter Plan, or payroll deduction unit.

Rain Falling Across Circle

Rain was "still coming down" across Corsicana and the Golden Circle at noon today, according to area weather watchers. Rainfall readings, however, were sporadic.

Temperatures throughout the area ranged around the 48-50 marks.

Blooming Grove recorded the most rainfall in the area Wednesday night, with a total of 1.5 inches by 9 a.m. Thursday morning. Corsicana and Dawson followed with .5 inch.

Fairfield reported .34 inch by 10 a.m., Wortham had recorded .21 and Ennis had .3 inch early Thursday.

It was still raining in these and all other towns checked near noon. Rain also fell in Barry, Hubbard, Frost, Kerens, Richland, Trinidad and Malakoff.

Most of the nation enjoyed dry, pleasant autumn weather today, but there were a few exceptions.

Rain and snow settled from the Pacific Northwest to northern Idaho, and stockmen's warnings were posted for Montana, where snow was expected on a cold north wind.

Numerous showers brought light precipitation to Texas and New Mexico and were expected to spread into the Plains on a moist Gulf air current.

Temperatures in the Southwest fell into the chilly 40s while the interior Northeast had readings in the frosty 30s.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 28 at Elmira, N.Y., to 76 at Key West, Fla.

Some other reports: Anchorage 35 rain, Atlanta 45 clear, Boston 41 clear, Buffalo 40 partly cloudy, Chicago 40 clear, Cincinnati 37 clear, Cleveland 35 clear, Dallas 49 rain, Denver 40 clear, Detroit 35 clear, Honolulu 78 partly cloudy, Indianapolis 32 clear, Kansas City 46 clear, Los Angeles 63 clear, Louisville 36 clear, Miami 70 clear, Minneapolis-St. Paul 50 cloudy, Nashville 49 cloudy, New York 44 cloudy, Philadelphia 37 clear, Phoenix 53 clear, Pittsburgh 38 cloudy, St. Louis 38 clear, San Francisco 57 clear, Seattle 45 partly cloudy, Washington 44 clear.

The local forecast calls for thundershowers today with decreasing cloudiness and thundershowers tonight; partly cloudy Friday; cool today; high today near 60; low tonight near 50; high Friday mid 70s; winds northeasterly 5-15 miles an hour becoming southwesterly 10-20 miles an hour Friday; probability of rain 100 per cent today; 30 per cent tonight; high yesterday near 60; low this morning 47.

Games Postponed

All high school and middle school football games scheduled for this afternoon and evening have been canceled, according to a noontime announcement from the office of Corsicana High principal Mark Culwell.

The mailman wasn't too good to me the past few days and I've been busy so haven't been out "gathering local news." Smile.

My son Mike did call me Thursday night and said he got it straight from the University of Texas professors mouths that it would be best for him to withdraw from school and enter next semester. His major is architecture and it will be impossible for him to draw and pass his classes, not with a separated shoulder, and he has already missed three weeks. He sounded sad but "old" folks like me know it is just part of life and it could have been just a lot worse.

Do write or call me at the Daily Sun if you have any news you'd like published.

'See you Thursday.

A SALE IN 1849

Mrs. Etta Macraye

Below is an account of a sale which took place near Versailles, Kentucky, in 1849. It was taken by my grandfather (than a young man) from the Live Stock Reporter, a primitive paper of that day.

He gave the paper to a daughter who gave it to me when a very young girl. Many people were leaving for Oregon Territory about that time, and all the sales, I have heard that Grandfather said, were large and of plentiful amount. This sale reads as follows:

"Having sold my farm and am leaving by ox team for Oregon Territory on March 1, 1849, I will sell all my personal property except two ox teams, Buck and Ben, and Lon and Jerry. The property consists of the following: Two milk cows, 1 grey mare and colt, 1 pair of oxen, 1 yoke, 1 baby yoke, 2 ox carts, 1 iron plow with wood male board, 800 feet of popular weather boards, 1,000 feet three-foot clapboards, 1,500 ten-foot fence rails, 1 60-gallon soap kettle, 85 sugar troughs made of white ash timber, 10 gallons maple syrup, 2 spinning wheels, 30 pounds mutton barrels, 1 32-gallon barrel of Johnson-Miller whiskey seven years old, 20 gallons apple brandy, 1 40-gallon copper still, 4 sides of oak-tanned leather, 1 dozen wooden pitchforks, a one-half interest in the tan yard, 1 32-caliber rifle, bullet molds and powder horn, a rifle made by Ben Miller, 50 gallons of soft soap, hams, bacon and lard, 40 gallons of sorghum molasses, 6 head of fox hounds, all soft-mouthed but one.

"At the same time I will sell my negro slaves—two men, 35 and 50 years old, two boys, 12 and 18 years old, two mulatto wenches, 40 and 30 years old. Will sell all together to same party as I will not separate them.

"Terms of Sale—Cash in hand or note to draw 4 per cent interest, with Bob McConnel security. My home is two miles south of Varsailles, Kentucky, on McConnel Ferry pike. Sale will begin at eight o'clock sharp, a.m. Plenty to eat and drink."

Mrs. Ila Milner was honored with a birthday party in the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. H.W. Milner, Saturday night. The honoree received many nice gifts. The hostess served the birthday cake, nuts, mints and punch to 40 guests. Those attending from out of town were: Mrs. Milner's daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Buren Nance from El Paso; Mr. and Mrs. E.C. Bryant Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Richard Steele, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Emmerson, all from Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Don Vandiver and sons, Ennis, and Mr. and Mrs. Theo Smith, Midlothian. The parth was a surprise to Mrs. Milner.

Congratulations to Mrs. Jerry Libal of Corsicana and Dorinda Smallwood of Kerens. They were the winners of a Vicky Vaughn and Pret a Porte dress at Pat and Babs Shoppe Open House last Saturday.

Talking about winning I can't remember when I ever did win a free prize. My luck changed. Last Tuesday night I attended the B&PW's Club Meeting to hear State Representative candidate Forrest Green. After the dinner and Mr. Green's informative talk Faye Varnell, chairman of the program, gave away a door prize. All you had to do was to guess the number on it. I finally did. She told me not to open the prize until Christmas! Fama Watson, Mr. and Mrs. S.W. Barley and Mr. Russell Reid were sitting at the same table that I was and they said I had the LEAST curiousity of any woman they'd ever seen. Smile. Well, Faye said NOT to open it so I sorta figured it was a decoration of some kind.

Missed fellow member Mrs. Ruby Hendon at the meeting. I had been by her dress shop earlier in the day and the girls had told me Ruby had gone to market in Dallas for the first time in a long, long time. I am glad she felt like going to market. By the way, be sure and look for her ad in today's paper. She has a whole new rack of fall and winter dresses marked down to one-half price for this weekend.

My apologies to Elaine Mayfield for not being free to accept her invitation to the Benefit Kitchen Tour. I would have loved to come see you in Dawson. Was I ever glad to hear from you? YES. Thought you had forgotten me.

Dear Aunt Louise, "I am leaving you a jar of my fig preserves. They are just a small sample of the goodies of home canned food that will be sold in auction at our Lord's Acre Sale next Saturday at our Harvest Festival.

Also a home cooked meal will be served from 11:30 a.m. until 1:00 p.m. on Saturday, October 28th. Everyone in the Golden Circle area is invited. This marks the tenth year of the festival sponsored by the Richland United Methodist Church. It will be held downtown at the Masonic Building in Richland.

"Many beautiful hand made articles along with cakes, pies, jellies, preserves and relishes will be auctioned immediately after the noon meal. Marvin Speer's ability as an auctioneer combined with his warm friendly manner and wit has always made our auction an occasion that no one will want to miss. Be sure and be with us." signed, Mrs. Walter McDaniel.

Thank you for your letter and fig preserves. Hope you have a great Lord's Acre Sale.

MARITA NOVAK

Miss Novak To Go To State Finals Of 'Queen' Contest

Miss Marita "Rita" Novak of Ellis County will represent District 4 in the state finals of the 1972 Texas Farm Bureau Queen Contest Nov. 13 in Houston. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe L. Novak of Ennis, Miss Novak was selected to represent the area in a recent district elimination.

The District 4 nominee will compete with 11 other district winners at the state contest, which will be held in conjunction with the 39th annual meeting of the Texas Farm Bureau. The state winner will receive expenses for herself and matron escort to attend the American Farm Bureau Federation convention in December in Los Angeles.

An 18-year-old senior at Ennis High School, Miss Novak is 5'6" and has brown eyes and brown hair.

She is a member of the Ennis High School Spanish Club, Performing Arts Club, band and Future Teachers of America. She is also a member of the Girl Scouts of America.

Honors and awards given her include Key Club Sweetheart, Student Council treasurer, Spanish Club reporter and secretary-treasurer for the Performing Arts Club. She has a major role in a school theatrical production. Her hobbies include: swimming (she has the Red Cross Life Saving Badge), horseback riding, camping, cooking, dancing and roller skating.

Miss Novak plans to attend North Texas State University next year and study homemaking and public relations.

DR. LOWELL CAMPBELL

Dr. Campbell Elected Medical Association Speaker of House

A Corsicana physician, Dr. Lowell Campbell, has been elected Speaker of the House of Delegates of the Association of American Physicians and Surgeons. The position is second in responsibility only to that of president of the association.

His election came at the recent 29th annual meeting of the assembly of delegates in Fort Worth.

The Corsicana doctor, a member of Physicians and Surgeons Clinic here, is currently serving as president of the Texas chapter of A.A.P.S. and has served as a delegate to the national meetings for 10 years.

Long active in the ranks of organized medicine, Dr. Campbell has been a delegate of the Navarro County Medical Scoiety to the Texas Medical Association for many years. He also has held numerous committee appointments in the Texas Academy of Family Physicians.

A.A. P.S. is a voluntary association of private physicians organized to maintain and improve the quality of medical care in the United States. It has members in all 50 states and Puerto Rico.

The recent meeting in Fort Worth featured speeches by Congressman John R. Rarick, Democrat of Louisiana, M. Stanton Evans, editor of the Indianapolis News and president of the American Conservative Union, Kenneth Ryker, well known speaker on economics and Ezra Taft Benson, former Secretary of Agriculture.

As Speaker of the House of Delegates, Dr. Campbell automatically becomes a member of the board of directors who are expected to meet in called session in December in Chicago, in advance of the next House meeting in April in Chicago.

College Notes

WACO–Two Baylor University students from Corsicana have been elected to positions of campus leadership for the 1972-73 school year.

They are Keith Tekell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Tekell of 1823 Dartmouth, and Mike Gibson, son of Dr. and Mrs. L.E. Gibson of 1560 Princeton.

Tekell, a freshman religion major, was elected by the Freshman Class to the newly formed University Council. The council is composed of students, faculty and administrators and will serve as an advisory group to Baylor President Abner V. McCall.

Tekell is a May graduate of Corsicana High School.

Gibson, a senior business major, was elected to the Student Congress as a representative of off-campus students. The congress is the legislative body of Baylor's student government. Gibson is a 1968 graduate of Corsicana High School.

Both were chosen for their respective positions in a recent campus election.

NJC To Offer Welding Course

A short course in welding will be offered at Navarro Junior College beginning Friday. It will be oriented to farmers and ranchers interested in improving their welding skills.

The course will be conducted from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m. each Friday for seven weeks. Teacher for the course will be Ralph Vaughn, welding instructor at Navarro.

Registration for the course will be 8 a.m.-4 p.m. any time this week in the registrar's office in the Administration Building. Registration will be limited to the first 12 persons.

Tuition for the course will be $50 and will cover the cost of supplies.

Blooming Grove Homecoming Set

BLOOMING GROVE — Word has it that the Homecoming Celebration to be staged in Blooming Grove Friday and Saturday will be the biggest and best yet.

Activities planned recently by the Ex-Students Homecoming Committee include an annual victory bonfire and pep rally on Friday night and a coffee honoring the "Coming Home Queen" nominees scheduled for 10 a.m. Saturday morning in the home of Mrs. E.D. McCormick, with queen chairman Mrs. G.W. Patterson serving as co-hostess.

Registration, paying of dues and voting are scheduled from 3-4 p.m. Saturday and an assembly of exes will meet at 4 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Crowning of the queen will climax the afternoon program.

Coming Home Queen nominees and their sponsors are Melba Page Winfield, the School Booster Club; Patsy Barham McGraw, P.T.A.; Evelyn McClure Minatra, Young Farmers; and Patsy Worsham Gordon, Barry Community Center.

The Coming Home Queens are chosen from Blooming Grove exes and are an added attraction to the younger Homecoming Queens chosen each year.

A dinner, by reservation only, will begin at 5 p.m. in the Blooming Grove School cafeteria. All persons wishing to dine have been asked to get in their reservations as soon as possible so the foods committee will be able to determine how much food to prepare. Reservations can be made by contacting Odessa Smith, phone 695-2743.

Homecoming Queen nominees include Leah Barham, Jamie Russell and Susan Smith. The queen selected from this group will be crowned during halftime activities of the football game which gets under way Saturday with the no-loss Blooming Grove Lions taking on Italy.

Youth Arrested On Pot Charge

By BETTY JEAN CLAY
City Editor

An 18-year-old youth, Robert David Lopez, arrested late Thursday in a raid on his apartment at 1524 W. Collin St., remained in county jail in lieu of $1,000 bond on charges of possession of marijuana.

Asst. Police Chief Doug Hightower filed the charge today with Justice of the Peace G.W. O'Neal, who set bond and will transcribe the case up to district court for trial.

City police, Sheriff Rufus Pevehouse and several deputies and Texas Highway Patrolmen converged on the apartment house, armed with a search warrant, after officers obtained information that a party with possibly as many as a dozen subjects were at the house, Police Chief Don Massey related Friday.

"Our information was wrong that a ... party was going on and about the number that would be there, but we were able to make a case on Lopez, who shares Apartment 3 with another man," Chief Massey said.

He said the reason "so many officers were on the raid was we thought we might need them based on information there would be so many--10 to 12 or so—there, but there were only four subjects present, and Lopez was the only one we could make a case on."

This was possible, Chief Massey said, when a search turned up a brass pipe of a type thought to be used to smoke marijuana in a suitcase of Lopez's in the apartment, and a search of Lopez's car turned up a second pipe and a can containing a substance which has been sent to a Dallas laboratory for analysis.

Carrying out the raid were Pevehouse and Deputies Jerry Shelton, Bryan Dunagan and Harold Pitts, Chief Massey, Asst. Chief Hightower, Sgts. Melvin Byrd and Eddie Foreman, Police Officers Victor Freeze and Les Cotton and Highway Patrolmen Bob Parrish, Al Fischer and Larry McCaig and an undercover agent of the Alcoholic Beverage Commission assigned to this county.

Corsicanans Urged To Continue Work for Williams

Corsicana residents who have been so responsive with gifts of money, cards and flowers for Jim Williams during his recuperation from cancer surgery were urged Wednesday to keep praying for his full recovery.

Since the fund was started in his behalf by his pastor, the Rev. Alvin Steen, Mrs. Steen reported today it had grown to $1,155.92.

"This has been the most encouraging thing to Jim that so many people are concerned about him and his family and have prayed for him, sent cards and flowers and dropped in to see him since he's been home from Houston," Mrs. Steen said.

Since returning from M.D. Anderson Hospital, Williams has been in church at West 3rd Ave. Baptist on three occasions.

He returns to Houston Monday to begin a series of treatments similar to inoculation shots.

Two Teague Youths Named Eagle Scouts

TEAGUE — The highest honors in Scouting were awarded to John Day and Joe Brown III of Troop 691 Sunday in Teague. Eagle Scout medals were presented to the two boys during Court of Honor Ceremonies at the First Baptist Church of Teague.

Day, 16, is a junior in Teague High School. He plays football and is a member of the First Baptist Church.

Brown, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Brown Jr., is the grandson of Mrs. A.J. Smith of Corsicana and the J.B. Browns of Frost. He is 14 and a freshman in Teague High School, where he is in the school's marching band and stage band. He is a member of the Church of Christ, through which he earned the Honor of God and Country award.

Both boys are members of the Order of the Arrow and both have attended Philmont Scout Ranch in New Mexico. The two will travel to Pennsylvania in 1973 to attend the BSA National Jamboree.

Making the presentation of awards at the ceremony Sunday was Dr. Jack Cox, who serves on the Heart-of-Texas Council in Waco.

Others taking part in the awards program were Herbert Hudson, a former Scout Master of Troop 691 and a member of the Heart-of-Texas Council Board; Dr. William J. Hart, minister of the 8th Ave. Church of Christ in Teague; Brother James Dammon, Pastor of the First Baptist Church and Vice Chairman for the Trinisota District of Scouts; and Ed Jones, District Scout Executive of the Trinisota District of Mexia.

More Than 15,000 Voters Expected

Figures indicating how many Navarro County residents have registered to vote in the Nov. 7 general election were not available today, but should be received in this county sometime this week, according to Navarro County Tax Assessor-Collector Jerry S. Scott.

He said the registration certificates were sent to a computer in Waxahachie, and the information concerning those registered voters has not yet been sent back to his office.

Scott said, however, he expects over 15,000 people will be able to vote in Navarro County this year. The number of registered voters in the 1968 general election was 15,488.

Chamber Tour To Visit Bakery

Corsicanans, well familiar with the story of the making of the famed DeLuxe Fruitcake, will have an opportunity Wednesday to see the process of mixing the batter to the final decorating of the cakes with glazed fruit and pecans.

Collin Street Bakery will host at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday a tour of Chamber of Commerce Industrial Relations guests and other citizens interested in making the inspectional visit arranged through the Chamber committee headed by Ed Hecht as tour chairman.

NJC Honor Fraternity To Initiate 21 Students

Twenty-one Navarro Junior College students are to be initiated into Phi Theta Kappa, honorary fraternity at 1:30 p.m. Sunday at the college.

They are Richard E. Burnes, Marquez; Mary F. Carroll, Blooming Grove; Millie Ann Fields, Cranfills Gap; Joe Hernandez, Corsicana; Patsy Horstmann, Mexia; Juan C. Inchauste, LaPaz, Bolivia; Nancy A. Johnson, Wilmer; Turner Keith Johnson, Bonham; Mohamed I. Kawasmi, Amman,, Jordan; Charles Kennard, Buffalo; Diana McBay Kennedy, Mexia; Deborah A. Kerr, Mexia; Martha C. Nevarez, Waxahachie; Jennifer A. Pritchett, Corsicana; Patrice Putman, Purdon; Phillip Shoemaker, Corsicana; Patricia Van Hoozier, Corsicana; Steven Williams, Ennis; Jane E. Wilson, Corsicana; Kim C. Watt, Corsicana; and Karen York, Corsicana.

Members of Zeta Omicron Chapter of Phi Theta Kappa, national honor society for junior colleges, are chosen from students who rank in the upper 10 per cent of the student body. The purpose of the organization is to promote scholarship, develop character and cultivate fellowship among junior college students.

Officers are president, Terry Ross; vice president, David Campbell; treasurer, Sue Hay; secretary, Sherry Curry; newsletter editor, Donald Williams; state and national publicity, Ricky Reaves; photographer, Charles Jones; and sponsors, Geraldine Johnston and James Chapman.

Local Robberies Thought Connected To Others in State

A second robbery of coin boxes of washing machines in H.A. Robertson's Quick Clean Laundry, 2401 W. 7th Ave., in less than 24 hours, this time apparently with a master key, is believed by Corsicana police to be the work of the same persons commiting similar coin box robberies in at least two Texas cities.

Asst. Chief Doug Hightower sent out a teletype message Tuesday and received a response from Rockdale police that seven washing machines were looted there at noon Monday by persons who had a master key. Rockdale police reported moments before the washateria's machines were found looted three young men between 18 and 20 years of age had driven eway in an old green car believed to have Florida license plates.

After Robertson discovered Tuesday morning that a master key had been used to unlock and loot 23 of 26 washers in his laundry, he contacted the supplier of the equipment in Waco. The supplier informed him that last week, two Paris washaterias were victimized by thieves who used a master key to open coin boxes.

Late Monday night, Robertson had discovered the coin boxes pried out of two washers and a soft drink vending machine looted in the same way.

It was after he had learned from his Waco call about the Paris lootings, that Asst. Chief Hightower put out an all points message about the robbery here and inquired if similar washateria robberies had occurred that Rockdale responded directly to Corsicana.

Limestone Seeks Jail for Region

Limestone County is seeking a regional correctional center and as part of that campaign has scheduled a tour Thursday for Texas Department of Correction officials from Huntsville of four sites around Mexia that meet more than minimum requirements.

Originally planned for Waco, headquarters for the Heart of Texas Council of Governments, the jail was turned down by McLennan County when neighboring owners objected to the proposed location near the municipal airport.

County Judge Bobby Reed told The Daily Sun from his Groesbeck courthouse office Wednesday that Limestone County "went after it" as a member county of HOTCOG when the Texas Criminal Justice Council, which will provide a grant covering 75 per cent of the facility's costs, wanted it located in the HOTCOG area.

"We had a delegation in Austin last Friday to see Gov. Preston Smith and to let the state know we (Limestone County) are ready to provide land for a location site.

"We have four sites around Mexia, and all of our sites are in excess of 100 acres. The minimum requirement is for a site of 60 acres," County Judge Reed added.

Through efforts of Mexia Chamber of Commerce and civic leaders there and in Groesbeck and the county, arrangements were cleared to get officials of Department of Corrections to make an inspection tour which began at 10 a.m. Thursday from the Mexia Chamber office.

Judge Reed said it is the understanding of Limestone County that the facility "will hold between 300 and 400 resident inmates and will employ between 75 and 100 people. The Regional Correctional Center incorporates a work-release program whereby inmates may go outside to receive on-the-job training prior to completing their prison sentence."

The first such regional center is under construction in Beaumont.

The inspection party from the Huntsville State Prison was to include W.A. Kubach, Jim Mabry and Gary McPherson.

In order for a county to be approved for location, Judge Reed said, it must put up $150,000 "in kind" toward the 10 per cent of the facility's costs and this can be in land. The Criminal Justice Council grant covers 75 per cent of the costs with the state, in this case, the Department of Corrections, financing 15 per cent.

Letters urging the selection of Limestone County for the regional center's location at one of the Mexia area sites had been obtained from the City of Groesbeck and County Commissioners Court, Judge Reed told The Daily Sun, adding, "We need all the help we can get on landing this center, and I have a call in to County Judge Buck Douglas" for Navarro County's support.

Proposed Enlargement of LBJ Park Doesn't Please All Neighbors

STONEWALL, Tex. (AP) — Texas officials are talking about enlarging the Lyndon B. Johnson State Park, and some of the ex-president's neighbors don't like it a bit.

They're mad because the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has been trying to obtain land for the expansion—their land.

While efforts to buy more than 100 acres along a three-mile stretch of the Pedernales River seem to have been shelved for the time being, they might be reviewed.

LBJ Park Supt. Harold Woods said a new plan is being prepared for submission to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission in December.

The park is across Ranch Road 1 from the LBJ Ranch.

Commission officials in Austin admit they are interested in making the park bigger. All their discussions, however, have been in closed door meetings.

Werner Schumann and Eugene Lindig said they have been approached about selling their approximately 52 acres, located in a narrow strip between the river and Ranch Road 1. They don't want to sell, they said.

Woods said he and George Adams, the commission's assistant director for land acquisition, talked with Schuman, Lindig and other property owners about selling their riverfront acreage.

But Adams "nixed it" Friday, Woods said, and told him to stop negotiations until the commission's December meeting because "the department staff is submitting an alternate proposal."

Adams refused Tuesday to say what that proposal might be.

Hanging over any negotiations with landowners is the possibility their property might be condemned for the park if they won't sell voluntarily.

"We don't threaten in any way. But if they ask, 'Can you condemn?' we have to tell them, 'Yes,'" Adams said.

"We asked if we had a choice or if they were just going to come and take it, and they said, well, they were going to get it," Mrs Schumann remembers.

Lindig said he was offered $1,000 an acre for 22.8 acres of land between the road and the Pedernales, just east of the park. Mrs. Schumann said the offer for her and her husband's approximately 30 riverfront acres was $1,500 per acre.

Mrs. Schumann and Lindig said in telephone interviews they did not want to sell.

Lindig said the only way the state would get his land would be through condemnation—"That's what they're going to have to do to get it."

His wife added that the land has been "in the family for 98 years now. We are trying to hold on to it because we think they have enough park. We would like for our children and grandchildren to have it (the land)."

Mrs. Schumann said the property owned by her and her husband gets its value from the riverfront—"We cleaned it all up and planted it in coastal bermuda. That's where we get our grazing from."

Not all the landowners along the river resist sale, however.

"We're ready to let them have whatever they need," said Mrs. Simon Burg. She and her husband are longtime backers of both Johnson and the park. Their riverfront land is across the road from a peach packing shed and curio shop-refreshment stand they own.

The state has power to condemn land for the park, and used that means to obtain—for $1,157 an acre—about a fifth of the land in the 269-acre park in 1967.

Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Hodges own about 17 riverfront acres between the Schumanns and the Lindigs and were on the list of landowners to be contacted. Woods said they were out when he and Adams went by.

"Our children will be the fourth generation of Hodges to own that land. Mr. Hodges' grandfather Hodges got it from a Spanish land grant. Our children are more perturbed than we are—they love that old lazy river down there, you know," Mrs. Hodges said.

Neither Adams nor parks and wildlife commission member Pearce Johnson of Austin would confirm that the commission had voted to buy additional land for the park.

"We are just looking around," the commission member said.

Adams said the purchases have "been under consideration for some time ... I believe it has been longer than a year .... They have discussed it several times."

The state's open meetings law permits state boards and commissions to hold closed-door sessions when discussing land purchases. The rationale is to keep word of a decision from driving up land prices.

Has the former president discussed enlargement of the park with the commission? "Not with me. I haven't been approached by him at all," said commissioner Johnson.

In 1966, the commission voted in an unannounced meeting to add 399 acres—including the Schumann, Hodges and Lindig places—to the park. The acreage makes a triangle between U.S. 290 and Ranch Road 1.

Newspapers learned of the action, and later that year the commission decided not to push for immediate acquisition.

There was a report recently that long-range plans include a golf course.

Court To Hear AF Woman's Appeal

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a move that could lead to a major court ruling on the rights of military personnel, the Supreme Court has agreed to decide whether the Air Force can discharge from the service a woman who had a baby.

The appeal, filed by Capt. Susan Struck, a 28-year-old career officer, will be heard early next year with a final decision expected by June 1973. The justices also will rule by that time on military regulations that deny housing and medical allowances for the husbands of most women in the armed forces.

Miss Struck became pregnant in Vietnam and gave birth in 1970. The baby was given up for adoption. She told the Air Force her Roman Catholic religion prevented an abortion which would have allowed her to remain in the service.

Her appeal contended the regulations unconstitutionally singled out pregnant women for punishment and intruded into a "person's fundamental right to decide whether to bear a child."

Justice William O. Douglas last May ordered the Air Force to keep her in the service until the court decided the suit.

In March 1971, the Air Force modified its regulations. Since then 219 of 257 pregnant women who filed requests have been allowed to remain in the service. However, Capt. Struck's application for a waiver was turned down.

Other appeals granted review Tuesday included:

—A move by Ohio to block a judicial inquiry into the training and weapons given the National Guard. The inquiry resulted from the killings of four youths at Kent State University in 1970.

—A try by Texas to gain approval of the state's congressional-reapportionment plan, which earlier was overturned by a district court.

—A dispute over whether the railroads can deduct from income taxes' allowances for depreciation of the costs of highway-railroad crossing facilities.

Change of Venue Rejected In Ex-Sen. Ratliff's Trial

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — State District Court Judge Mace Thurman has denied three motions in the theft trial of former Sen. David Ratliff.

The judge rejected motions Tuesday to move the Oct 30 trial to another county, to postpone it beyond the Nov 7. general election and to permit examination of prospective jurors individually rather than as a group.

Ratliff is charged with stealing two state paychecks intended for his secretary. If convicted, he could get a prison term up to 10 years.

Ratliff's lawer, Frank Maloney, argued that news coverage of the Ratliff case, the convictions of three other legislators this year and the impending trials of three others made it "improbable if not impossible" to get a fair and impartial jury here.

Dist. Atty. Bob Smith put on witnesses who said Ratliff could get a fair jury here. One of those was District Court Judge Tom Blackwell, who presided at the trial of former Rep. Walter Knapp of Amarillo. Knapp got four years on conviction of stealing postage stamps from his House contingent expense account to buy a used pickup truck.

Maloney asked Blackwell if he thought the "prevailing sentiment" of people here was that legislators under indictment are guilty.

"I would think not, Blackwell said. "Legislators are normally held in very high opinion."

The district attorney, who beat Maloney in the Abilene trial of former Speaker Gus Mutscher and Rep. Tommy Shannon of Fort Worth argued against a second postponement. He said Maloney agreed in July that a 60-day delay would be reasonable.

Maloney pleaded with the judge not to hold his error—agreeing to a trial a week before an election in which honesty in office is a major issue—against Ratliff.

Mutscher, Shannon and Mutscher aide Rush McGinty were convicted of conspiracy to accept a bribe. They received five-year probated sentences.

Rep. John Allen of Longview is charged, together with Ratliff, with conspiracy to commit theft. The state alleges they hired each other's children without intending to require them to do any work.

Rep. Tom Holmes of Granbury and former Rep. Hudson Moyer of Amarillo are charged with stealing postage stamps from their contengent expense funds.

TRA Representative To Discuss Reservoir

A representative from the Trinity River Authority will speak Thursday to the monthly manufacturers "dutch treat" luncheon at Holiday Inn sponsored by the Industrial Relations Committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Program speaker will be Dennis Baker, TRA administrative assistant, who will outline latest developments of interest to Corsicana and Golden Circle area residents on the proposed Tennessee Colony reservoir, a part of the overall Trinity River development project.d

Commission To Hear Two Zoning Requests

City Planning and Zoning Commission will hold public hearings at 2 p.m. Thursday in the Chamber of Commerce conference room on two applications for zoning changes.

Thomas E. Sherrard requests a rezoning of 1326 W. 10th Ave. (lot 10, block 629) from Residential 3 to Residential 4 and specific use permit for a mobile home on the property.

A similar zoning change with specific use permit for a mobile home is being sought by Thomas E. Hutchins for 1221 S. 18½ St. (lot C, part of block 430B).

Commissioners have been advised by Secretary Nelda Neal that Delma Ware, director of municipal services, may have other sub-division matters or plats to present for consideration following the public hearings.

Student Musician Entertains Lions

Members of the Lions Club and their guests Tuesday were entertained by Lana Cartlidge, Collins Middle School student, who presented several musical selections on the piano.

Selections included "Raindrops Keep Falling On My Head," "Blue Danube Waltz," theme from "Gone With The Wind" and "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

The Lions Club next Tuesday will be entertained by the Navarro Junior College Choralaires.

Food Price Hike Okayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Price Commission gave its approval Tuesday to increases in the prices of frozen and canned fruits and vegetables sought by three companies. Similar price hikes may follow.

A commission spokesman said it was the first batch of price increases covering processed foods granted since a suspension on price boosts in this area was lifted recently.

There are several similar requests pending, the spokesman added.

The commission approved the request of Agway Inc.'s Curtice-Burns Inc., Consolidated Foods Inc., and Stokely-Van Camp for various canned and frozen foods.

The spokesman said that a number of natural disasters, including tropical storm Agnes, heatwaves, floods and freezes, have been partly responsible for the jump in prices.

In the last Consumer Price Index, for September, food prices rose by a seasonally adjusted six-tenths of one per cent.

Returning to College Means More Than Textbooks and Tests for Women

By LYNNE OLSON
Associated Press Writer

Growing numbers of women returning to the campus after marriage and children are finding that college means more than a return to tests and textbooks. It can often mean unsettling and dramatic changes in family life.

In some cases it has led to divorce, while in others it has resulted in closer relationships with husband and children.

According to U.S. Labor Department census statistics, the number of women ages 25-34 who returned to school has almost doubled during the most recent five-year period for which figures are available. It increased more than tenfold in a 19-year-span.

In 1969, the most recent year for which figures are available, 526,000 women were enrolled in classes. That compares with 238,000 in 1964 and 47,000 in 1950.

No figures are available for women ages 35 and over, but a Labor Department spokesman said she believed the growth rate was similar.

A variety of reasons for going back to school emerged in interviews on several college campuses around the country.

Many of the women are housewives with diminishing home responsibilities who want to start on or complete college degrees and embark on professional careers. Others go back for intellectual stimulation and self-enrichment.

"I think I'm quite a different person after coming back to college," said Carol Herman, a 37-year-old mother of three studying for her bachelor's degree at Sarah Lawrence College in Bronxville, N.Y. "My whole sense of values and priorities has changed.

"The average woman who gets married at an early age is limited in her intellectual and emotional growth. When she goes back to school, she often starts changing her ideas, becomes more independent and widens her experiences.

"It can be very painful and can create a strain on a marriage. You're not the same woman your husband married."

Counselors of returning women say most of them have encouraging, supportive husbands and that many develop closer ties with their families. But if a marriage is bad, the counselors agree, a woman is usually able to accept the fact and end it.

All the women interviewed said they had developed a greater sense of self-worth and independence as a result of returning to school.

"Coming to school is frightening to these women," said Elizabeth Minnich, director of the Sarah Lawrence Center for Continuing Education, which encourages older women to go back to school.

"They're afraid they're not going to do well. Some have told me, 'All my life, men have told me I'm dumb. So I must be.' Well, they find out they're not, and it can be a great shock for them as well as for their husbands."

Many of the women interviewed said their husbands had a difficult time at first adjusting to the fact that their wives had assumed a role separate from the family.

Jean Campbell, director of the University of Michigan Center for Continuing Education of women, said, "Even supportive husbands don't feel quite as supportive in some circumstances, particularly when their wives have to study and don't seem to have time for them."

Anne Truax, director of the University of Minnesota Women's Center and the mother of five children, said she got a divorce as the direct result of going back to school to get her B.A. Now a doctoral students, she says, "My ex-husband was not able to accept anything but a traditional wife who did the housework and took care of him and the kids."

Mrs. Truax retained custody of the children, three of whom now attend the university with her.

Most of the women said once their husbands got used to the idea of their being back in school, they were delighted with the results.

The women said they developed closer relationships with their children, especially their teen-agers, as the result of the exposure to young students and the common denominator of being in the classroom.

"I've learned to accept my children as individuals and vice-versa. We have a lot in common as students," says Judith Kierstead, 34, a mother of four who is studying for her bachelor's degree in music at the University of Michigan.

Like most of the other women interviewed, Mrs. Kierstead said she had delegated many household responsibilities to her four children, ages 7-12, because of her lack of time.

Attending classes with younger students meant colliding head-on with such moral and social issues as sexual freedom, abortion, homosexuality, the Vietnam war and smoking marijuana, the women said.

Most said they could not accept for themselves what many termed the "new ideas," but they could accept the young people who were practicing them.

"The kids in my classes were very open about living together and smoking pot," said Nanelle Russ, mother of eight children. "That's not my moral code but I wasn't turned off. They're my friends."

"Some of my friends adopted the attitude of 'Going back to school is outrageous. How dare you?' " says Margot Silverman, 37, who is studying for her B.A. at Sarah Lawrence. "I have a feeling they feel it's an implied criticism of them not being quite as smart."

EISENSTADT, Austria (AP) — Police said the "smoke signals" of some boys playing Indians started a major fire that burned out seven barns, causing $43,500 damage.

ATHENS (AP) — Excavators digging near Athens found the petrified remains of a rhinoceros and other animals dating back 13 million years, an Athens University professor announced.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Africa has less than one telephone for every 100 persons, while the world has an average of more than seven for every 100, a U.N. report said.

Corsicana, Former Resident Instrumental To Marshall Library

Corsicana residents may have more of an interest in the City of Marshall's new public library than they realize.

The East Texas city has just successfully completed a campaign to raise $150,000 to construct a new facility to replace a privately owned and supported library; and having a big hand in the fund raising is former Corsicanan Mrs. Audrey Kariel, daughter of George Daniels and niece of Mrs. Rose Goldberg.

Mrs. Kariel was one of the principal leaders in the fund raising drive which exceeded its goal last Friday.

She has informed her father that the library will be patterned after Corsicana's modern facility so much so that Marshall has retained the same architects to draft plans for its building.

Front page news stories and pictures, very muchly featuring Mrs. Kariel, highlighted the Marshall News Messenger's Friday, Oct. 20 edition. The News Messenger, as the Daily Sun, is a member paper of the Harte-Hanks Newspapers, Inc., chain.

Upon raising a local goal of $150,000, the library qualified for a $150,000 grant pledged by the Andrew Norman Foundation of California and received a $25,000 grant from the Moody Foundation of Galveston. The new library had qualified for a $75,000 construction grant from the Texas State Library System by following building plan qualifications set out by the system.

Since its opening in 1968, the Corsicana Public Library has been visited and inspected by delegations from numerous cities in Texas and the Southwest as a model in modern architecture and facilities design.

Texas Campaign Activity Increases

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Activity increased on Texas political fronts this week with most of the major candidates active in the search for votes.

Democratic gubernatorial candidate for governor Dolph Briscoe came out for the first time in several weeks and spoke at Henderson while his opponents, Hank Grover of the GOP and the Ramsey Muniz of the Raza Unida party were at Fort Worth and Alpine respectively.

Shots were fired in the senatorial campaign also with incumbent Republican John Tower talking about maintaining U.S. military strength and his Democratic opponent Barefoot Sanders claiming Tower's influence as a senator is mere talk.

Muniz spoke before a group of supporters at Alpine and again called for a public debate with the other gubernatorial candidates, but added he did not expect them to accept the challenge.

Muniz said that "Briscoe, especially, is completely incapable of discussing the issues intelligently."

Muniz also referred to the housing problems in the state of Texas saying that blacks and Mexican-Americans most affected by the lack of adequate housing.

"We need a cooperative effort between state and federal government to solve the problem of substandard housing," he said.

Republican candidate Hank Grover spoke of what he called "the tired Democratic machine in Austin."

Grover also visited the Ling-Temco Vought plant at Grand Prairie and then made a speech at West Texas State University.

Briscoe resumed the campaign trail with a speech at Henderson in which he said that "state government not only must be concerned with problems in the metropolitan areas, but also must show concern that opportunities in small towns no longer are measured only in terms of departure."

Sanders attacked Tower saying the incumbent senator "talks about his influence, but when it comes to passing bills he is absent."

Sanders referred to a $6 billion federal highway bill which he said was not approved by Congress and cost Texas $50 million.

Tower was in San Antonio where he said the United States must maintain "our military strength if we are to achieve a lasting peace."

Blacks To Present Demands to Dallas Chief of Police

DALLAS (AP) — Negroes said they expected to meet today with Police Chief Frank Dyson and present a list of demands, including one for increased recruitment of black officers by Dallas police.

The demands were drafted Tuesday night at a session called by leaders of the Dallas chapter of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

The meeting was followed by a short march toward downtown which turned back and ended at a South Dallas church.

U.S. Reduces Strikes against North

SAIGON (AP) — The United States reduced its fighter-bomber strikes against North Vietnam again Tuesday and confined them to the southern panhandle below the 20th parallel in a sort of a partial bombing halt aimed at improving the atmosphere for peace negotiations, informed sources said today.

The Air Force's big B52 bombers resumed attacks on supply caches in the panhandle after a 24-hour diversion to targets in South Vietnam. But the U.S. Command said the smaller fighter-bombers flew only about 100 strikes, all below the 20th parallel, which is 75 miles south of Hanoi.

The curtailment of the air war began Sunday, when the total of fighter-bomber strikes dropped from an average of 250-300 to about 140, and about 120 were flown on Monday.

Although the northeast monsoons always reduce the air attack on the North at this time of year, informed sources say orders from President Nixon have curtailed it even more. It is believed that Nixon does not want to acknowledge the curtailment publicly because that would tend to inhibit his freedom to resume heavy strikes on the Hanoi-Haiphong area should the current peace negotiations collapse.

Meanwhile, the second fatal accident aboard a U.S. navy ship off the coast of Vietnam in less than a month killed four Americans Tuesday night, injured 22 and wrecked nine jet fighter-bombers worth $30 million. Another sailor was reported missing, presumably overboard.

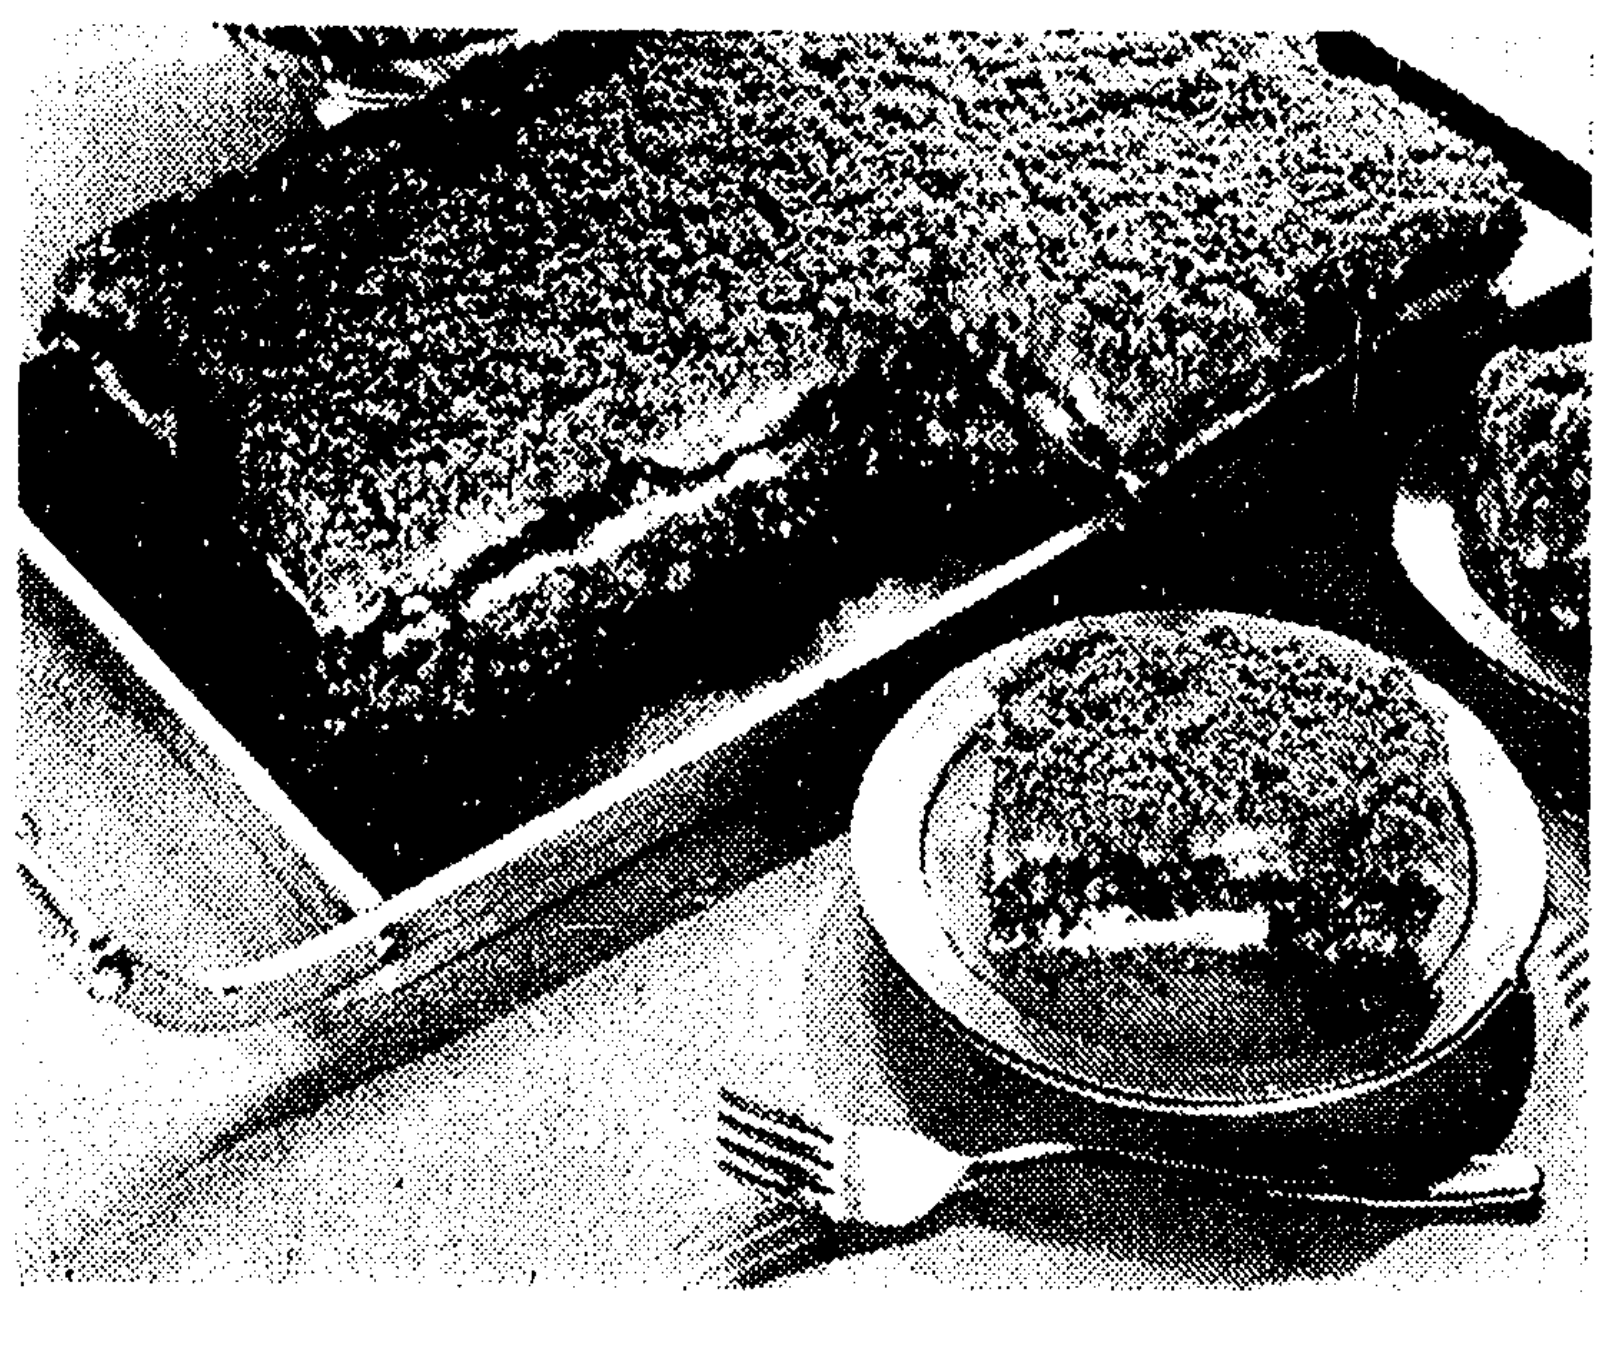
Make Yours Blueberries

BLUEBERRY CREAM CHEESE SQUARES

- ¼ cup cornstarch
- ½ cup sugar
- ½ cup water
- 3 cups blueberries rinsed and drained
- 1 package (13½-oz.) graham cracker crumbs
- 1½ sticks butter or margarine, melted
- 2 packages (8-oz. ea.) cream cheese
- 1½ cups sugar
- 2 teaspoons vanilla
- 1 package (9-oz.) frozen whipped topping, thawed

Combine cornstarch, sugar, water and blueberries. Cook while stirring over medium heat until sauce bubbles and thickens. Cool. Combine cracker crumbs and butter. Press one-half of the crumbs into the bottom of a foil lined 13 x 9 x 2-inch pan. Mash cream cheese until soft. Gradually beat in sugar and vanilla. Fold in whipped topping. Spread one-half of this mixture carefully over the crumbs. (To make cheese easy to spread evenly over crumbs and blueberries, drop mixture by spoonfuls over the entire surface. Then spread gently, using a spatula.) Spread blueberry filling evenly over cheese. Spread with remaining cheese mixture. Sprinkle with remaining crumbs. Chill overnight. Using foil to remove from pan, place dessert on a platter and cut into squares. Makes 15 servings.



Blueberry cream cheese squares make use of fruit in season.

Dress Up Fruit Salad

By AILEEN CLAIRE

A crisp and colorful fruit salad restores sagging interest in food, especially during warmer days. An added bonus to the flavor of fresh fruit is a zippy dressing, such as one mingling the flavors of mint and lime. The base is peanut oil, which does not add a taste of its own to a salad but clings evenly to ingredients. When serving a fruit salad, chill ingredients first but always serve the salad dressing at room temperature. Make the fruit dressing at least a half-hour before serving to allow the seasonings to blend into the oil. Add the dressing at the last moment before serving.

FRUIT SALAD DRESSING

- ½ cup peanut oil
- Juice of one average-size lime (about 1½ oz. lime juice)
- ¼ teaspoon grated lime rind
- 1 tablespoon honey (sugar may be used but honey is better)
- 2 teaspoons dried mint flakes
- Dash salt

Blend oil, lime juice, grated lime rind, honey and salt. Crush or roll mint flakes with fingers and add to liquid mixture. Let stand at room temperature at least a half-hour before using to allow time for mint flavor to blend into mixture. Stir or shake briskly before serving. Pour over lettuce leaves topped with sliced favorite fruits in season: peaches, apples, berries, melons, pears. Also delicious over fruit salads to which a scoop of cottage cheese has been added. Makes two generous main dish salad servings.

Corn Bread Rings the Flavor Bell

CORN BREAD RING WITH BARBECUED BEEF

Corn Bread Ring:
1¼ cups enriched cornmeal
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 egg
1¼ cups milk
3 tablespoons melted or liquid shortening

Sauce:
1½ pound beef stew meat, trimmed and cut into cubes
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
One 8-ounce can tomato sauce
One 6-ounce can tomato paste
One 4-ounce can mushroom stems and pieces, drained
2 teaspoons sugar
1½ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon oregano
1 teaspoon chili powder
1 teaspoon garlic powder
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
2¼ cups water
1 tablespoon cornstarch

Heat oven to 425 degrees. For corn bread ring, sift together cornmeal, flour baking powder and salt. Add egg, milk and oil. Mix just until dry ingredients are moistened. Pour into greased 5½-cup ring mold. Bake at 425 degrees 25 to 30 minutes. Invert on serving platter. For sauce, brown meat in butter; drain off fat. Add tomato sauce, tomato paste, mushrooms, sugar, salt, oregano, chili powder, garlic powder, onion and 2 cups of the water. Cover. Simmer about 1 hour or until meat is tender. Drain off fat if necessary. Combine cornstarch and the remaining water. Add to meat sauce, stirring quickly. Bring to boil. Simmer 1 minute. To serve, pour into center of corn bread ring. Cut ring in 6 pieces. Spoon sauce over top of each piece; serve immediately. Makes 6 servings.
